

Practical Support

Volunteering to hear readers

Listening to readers is such an important way to support schools. This is often on a weekly basis but does not require a huge time commitment.

School trip support

Schools are often appreciative of DBS checked volunteers to assist on trips, especially if it involves walking from the school to a local attraction.

Helping at school events

Assisting at school events, whether that is set-up, stewarding, running stalls or helping to tidy up afterwards.

Hosting school events at church

Offering the church building to host events is another way to support your school. This could be for concerts, end of term/year assemblies and performances.
