

Sometimes we are aware of a deeper level of reality:

- Listening to a beautiful piece of music
- Seeing a beautiful landscape or starry night sky
- The birth of a child
- Even losing someone we love

These moments give colour and depth to life.

They make us ask fundamental questions:

- Who am I?
- What is life for?
- What really matters?